

Master of Arts in Children's Literature

Intended for students who wish to deepen their understanding and knowledge of children's literature, this multidisciplinary, academic master's degree program exposes students to the broad literary canon of children's literature, while exploring schools of literary criticism, educational theory, and professional and creative practice.

Program Highlights:

- 24 credits of graduate coursework and a 6-credit thesis
- Choose from courses in Creative Writing, English, Language & Literacy Education, and Library & Information Studies
- World-class UBC library collections to support research
- Unique in Canada, and the only M.A. in Children's Literature providing graduate students with a multidisciplinary perspective on the life cycle of the literature

Graduate Admission Requirements

Bachelor's degree in any academic discipline
Minimum B+ average in upper-level courses
Strong academic references

Annual Tuition Fees (2011-12)

$4264 for Canadians/permanent residents
$7491 for International students

Apply Today!

For admission guidelines, program info, and more visit www.slais.ubc.ca

or contact

slais.admissions@ubc.ca

Annual Deadline February 1