

Master of Library & Information Studies

Today's information-critical world places high value on the ability to understand how people, information and technology interact, and how to manage, access and organize information to improve information decisions, service delivery and efficiency. SLAIS MLIS graduates work as librarians, web site architects, information specialists, digital asset managers and more.

Program Highlights:

- Courses in social media, information ethics, digital libraries, information systems, services and literature for families and youth, knowledge organization and more, with optional thesis
- 48 credits - finish in less than two years, or take up to five years studying part-time
- Include experiential learning opportunities in your program of study via paid co-op work terms, practicum placements & more
- State-of-the-art learning and research facilities in a world-class university located in beautiful Vancouver Canada

Graduate Admission Requirements

Bachelor's degree in any academic discipline
Minimum B+ average in upper-level courses
Strong academic references

Annual Tuition Fees (2011-12)

$4360 for Canadians/permanent residents
$7641 for International students

Apply Today!

For admission guidelines,
program and funding info:

www.slais.ubc.ca

or contact

slais.admissions@ubc.ca

Deadlines February 1/June 1